BRAINERD GREETS AMERICAN LEGION TODAY

SIXTH DISTRICT CONVENTION HAS BUSINESS SESSION

FIRST GATHERING OF ITS KIND HELD IN DISTRICT—BRAINERD HONORED

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED AND RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED REGARDING LEGISLATION

Delegates to the sixth district convention of the American Legion traveled in large numbers to Brainerd by automobile and so the time tables followed were of the elastic kind with no settled hour for arriving.

First on the scene was Joyce Lewis, who presided at the opening of the business session held in Elks' hall. In an interview given the Dispatch, Mr. Lewis said the convention was the first of its kind in the district. The business before the convention was the election of officers, resolutions regarding legislative matters and getting ready for the next state convention at Virginia.

It was the purpose to set things before the members so that ample time would be given to arrive at a decision. The convention will listen to reports from the various counties in the sixth congressional district.

Each post has a representation of two delegates for each 100 members or major fraction thereof.

A sentiment is developing to make Brainerd the permanent seat of the sixth district headquarters. Close to 100 delegates are expected if every post sends its quota.

State Commander A. A. Van Dyke and wife of St. Paul were among the early arrivals.

Gerald Barron, Commander of Cloquet post, and William Heed motored to Brainerd from Cloquet. C. A. Peet came from Bertha. The convention originally set for 10 o'clock Monday morning, was postponed to 1 p. m., by which time it was hoped all delegates would be present.

A fine representation of the ex-service men had gathered when the meeting was called to order by ex-National Vice Commander Joyce S. Lewis of Long Prairie. The roll call followed and showed representation from most of the counties but, owing to the absence of representatives from some counties, the meeting adjourned until after the arrival of the afternoon trains.

The following letter of welcome from Hon. Frank E. Little was received and read, winning the whole hearted approval of the men assembled who were delighted with the cordial welcome extended by the Mayor.

Gentlemen:

Members of the American Legion of the Sixth Congressional District.

I regret that I am not able to address you personally but in behalf of the citizens and as mayor of Brainerd I bid you a hearty welcome.

It is always a pleasure to welcome a convention to our city and doubly so to be able to welcome men who so nobly answered the call to fight for that which we all hold dear, Liberty and Justice.

I trust that your meetings will be interesting and profitable and that some great good will be accomplished through them. I hope you will be able to visit some of our new buildings and also view some of the beautiful scenery around about Brainerd and I assure you that no matter where you go you will receive a most cordial welcome.

We all hope that you will enjoy yourselves to the utmost and that you will favor Brainerd with a return visit in the near future.

F. E. LITTLE,
Mayor

Dr. A. A. VanDyke, Minnesota Department Commander, announced during the afternoon that he is prepared to answer any questions about the Legion which may be asked at the banquet this evening. All service men are invited to this banquet and any questions that they may wish to ask about the American Legion will be answered by the State Commander.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD DEFIES U. S. LABOR BOARD

TELLS BOARD IT WILL TREAT WITH ITS OWN EMPLOYEES INSTEAD OF UNION OFFICIALS

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 26—The Pennsylvania railroad defied the United States railroad labor board today.

The railroad, in a letter signed by Samuel Rea, president of the road, said:

"The carrier will exercise the right to deal with its own employes without the intervention of individuals or organizations whose manifest objection is denial of the fundamental right of employes and employers to deal in the first instance direct with each other respecting wages and working conditions."

This letter was sent to the board today.

This was the date set by the board for an oral hearing on the minor points of the petition of the road to deal direct with its own employes. The railroad board refused the petition last week holding that union officials elected by employes of the road had a right to treat with the management on questions of wages and working conditions.

UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE OPENS IN WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT SAYS TREASURY MUST NOT BE CALLED UPON TO SOLVE SITUATION

THINKS IT SHOULD BE ACCOMPLISHED BY COMBNED ACTION OF CAPITAL, LABOR, PUBLIC

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 26—All America must commit itself to the solving of the unemployment problem, President Harding declared today.

Opening the unemployment conference the president predicted the United States will not fail in the task which he characterized as an "advance drive of peace."

"All America has never failed when committed to a common cause," he said.

After Harding's address and a speech by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, the first session of the conference adjourned until 3 p. m.

Both Harding and Hoover emphasized that the situation must never be solved by the giving of government alms from the public treasury.

The president made it very clear that the federal treasury must not be called upon to relieve the situation. He insisted that the remedy lies in the co-operation of capital, labor and the public.

America, he said, is now suffering from a war inheritance which was inevitable and prompt mitigation is imperative. America is fundamentally sound, financially strong, industrially unimpared, commercially consistent and politically unafraid. There ought to be work for everybody in the United States who choses to work and our conditions at home and our place in the world depends on everybody going to work in pursuance with that patriotism and devotion which makes for a happy people, President Harding said.

Co-operative service to the unemployed and not charity must be the aim of the conference Secretary Hoover declared in a brief speech outlining the program in a general way.

Hoover said "there is no question but that we are on the economic upgrade. Every sign indicates that we have passed the lowest economic point.

"The present degree of unemployment can not continue if your moral and economic system is to survive," he said.

Outlining the general program of the conference, Hoover said the first task is to get facts about unemployment, as to its volume, distribution and character, because these proposed questions now depend on the weight of the problem.

Next, he said, the immediate need for the coming winter must be coped with. The restoration of commerce and unemployment generally to normal must be assisted. Preventative measures against recurrence of "acute reaction which resulted in unemployment is also a vital part of the work," Hoover said.

Hoover said the quickest way to get results would be to organize at once a working committee to take up the various phases of the problem in a general discussion.

In accordance with the resolution passed by the conferees Hoover named a permanent committee to prepare the conference program, select the committee and assign them to various phases of the unemployment problem. Julius Barnes of Duluth, represents Minnesota on that committee.

EMMA GOLDMAN COMING BACK TO AMERICA SHE SAYS

EDWIN HULLINGER,

(Copyright 1921 by the United Press)

Moscow, Sept. 26—"I am going back to America—my country" Emma Goldman, anarchist leader, said today, in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"I have found less liberty in Russia than in the United States."

Huddled over a typewriter, wrapped in a shawl in a fireless, lightless little old back room up three flights of stairs from a dark back street, I found the "mother of American anarchism" at work collecting data on the Russian revolution.

"Come in," she greeted me. "I will give you a message for America. Tell them I am going back to the United States to find my freedom. Why here in Russia we are not even allowed to print anarchist literature."

HALF OF CHICAGO POLICE IN RUM RING THE CHIEF CHARGES

WHOLESALE DISCHARGE OF GUILTY MEN PROPOSED BY FITZMORRIS IN CLEANUP

Chicago, Sept. 26—Fifty per cent of Chicago's policemen are involved in illegal transportation and sale of liquor, Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris declared Saturday.

A thorough cleanup of the department with a view to ferreting out the guilty parties was ordered by the chief. Immediate removal of officers found engaged in the illicit liquor traffic was promised.

As a result of the wholesale activity of police officers in the liquor traffic, the chief issued orders shaking up the entire police department. More than 2,500 policemen, including men of every rank, were transferred.

The chief's assertion came with the announcement of the dispatch of letters to United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne and John H. Alcock, first deputy superintendent of police.

In his communication to the district attorney, Fitzmorris requested Clyne to turn over to him whatever evidence federal agents have gathered of dry law violations in which policemen were implicated.

Armed with this, the chief says he will go before the city civil service commission and demand the discharge of policemen named.

Considerable evidence of this character was collected recently by prohibition enforcement officers working under the direction of John Kjellander, in charge of the central division, and by special agents operating under A. C. Bernshaw, intelligence officer for the internal revenue bureau in the investigation of dry law activities.

Up to Harding

The booze crisis was put up to President Harding today.

Moral forces of the country's second largest city called upon the president to intervene in the situation caused by the "nullification of the 18th amendment."

Arthur Burridge Farwell, head of the Chicago law and order league, following the admission of Police Chief Fitzmorris that half of the Chicago police force of 5,000 are bootleggers, sent this wire to President Harding:

"Situation caused by nullification of the 18th amendment in Chicago intolerable. Prohibition laws are being openly violated. Crime is on the increase. Writing you in detail in regard to this critical situation. Moral forces of the city are requesting your excellent judgment on what should be done."

Farwell, leader of the Chicago reform element since 1871, in a letter to the president, will ask the executive to use his influence to induce congress to send an investigating committee to Chicago with power to subpoena witnesses and fix blame for nullification.

The situation came to a head when Charles Fitzmorris, youthful police chief, transferred 800 of his forces and made a statement in which he said half of the Chicago police are bootleggers or mixed up in bootlegging.

Federal investigation of the liquor traffic in Chicago has been under way for some time, according to District Attorney Clyne.

(By United Press.)

Twin Falls, Idaho, Sept. 26.—Trial of the sensational case of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "female bluebeard," charged with murder, opened here today.

The defendant is specifically charged with the murder of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer, but the state alleges she also poisoned three previous husbands, Robert C. Dooley of Twin Falls, Wm. McHaffie of Hardin, Montana, and H. C. Lewis of Denver and Billings, Montana.

It was from these charges that the application of the "feminine bluebeard" was bestowed upon her. In addition the state asserted she poisoned a two-year-old child and her brother-in-law, Edward Dooley.

A special venire of 70 men has been called. The state had subpoenaed 137 witnesses and is expected to summon several others.

Mrs. Southard is specifically charged with poisoning Meyer with arsenic obtained from poison fly paper one month after they were married, August 1, 1920, in order to collect $10,000 worth of life insurance which he is said to have taken out at her request. The insurance company became suspicious and refused payment.

EIGHT DEATHS AND SEVENTY INJURED IN NEW BELFAST RIOTS

CATHOLICS AND PROTESTANTS FIGHT THROUGH THE STREETS OF THE CITY

BOMBS ARE THROWN, AND GUNS AND REVOLVERS ARE USED IN CONFLICT

(By United Press)

Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 26—Fresh rioting occurred here shortly before noon today and several persons were seriously wounded.

Crown forces which had temporarily stopped the sectarian warfare of the early morning were again called out and the armoured car forces poured machine gun fire into the opposing mobs.

Fierce sporadic fighting between catholics and protestants continued through the night. Volleys of revolver and rifle fire poured down York street by opposing gunmen shortly after midnight brought out armoured cars and repeated bursts of machine gun fire marked the battle area.

No sooner had the crown forces left, than the mob again came together. Eight death, four from bomb explsions earlier in the night, and seventy wounded was the toll of the casualties for the week end.

Two young girls and one boy were wounded by rifle fire early today.

Early last night a bomb was thrown into the middle of a catholic mob by an opposing mob of unionists in Seaford street. The bomb failed to explode and someone hurled it into the protestant crowd where it burst with terrific effect killing four and wounding five.

MRS. GRACE LAWES WHO SHOT MISS HANAN DID NOT SUICIDE

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 26—District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn, was today informed that Mrs. Grace Lawes who shot Miss Mildred Hanan early last Friday and was then reported to have turned the revolver on herself, did not commit suicide.

Another man besides John Borland, who was with Miss Hanan at the time of the shooting, witnessed the affair.

Lewis announced that he would have the body exhumed to make certain that the shot that entered her mouth and killed her was a "contact wound."

He also said he would continue investigation of the entire case.

Credence was placed in the report that another man was present and that Mrs. Lawes was not a suicide because of the fact that in a letter written to Miss "Billie" Williams some time before her death, Mrs. Lawes asked that her relatives be notified "in case of accident to her."

Witnesses will be summoned to the district attorney's office. Among them will be Miss Williams.

Washington, Sept. 26—All America must commit itself to the solving of the unemployment problem, President Harding declared today.

Opening the unemployment conference the president predicted the United States will not fail in the task which he characterized as an "advance drive of peace."

HALF OF CHICAGO POLICE IN RUM RING THE CHIEF CHARGES

WHOLESALE DISCHARGE OF GUILTY MEN PROPOSED BY FITZMORRIS IN CLEANUP

Chicago, Sept. 26—Fifty per cent of Chicago's policemen are involved in illegal transportation and sale of liquor, Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris declared Saturday.

A thorough cleanup of the department with a view to ferreting out the guilty parties was ordered by the chief. Immediate removal of officers found engaged in the illicit liquor traffic was promised.

As a result of the wholesale activity of police officers in the liquor traffic, the chief issued orders shaking up the entire police department. More than 2,500 policemen, including men of every rank, were transferred.

The chief's assertion came with the announcement of the dispatch of letters to United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne and John H. Alcock, first deputy superintendent of police.

In his communication to the district attorney, Fitzmorris requested Clyne to turn over to him whatever evidence federal agents have gathered of dry law violations in which policemen were implicated.

Armed with this, the chief says he will go before the city civil service commission and demand the discharge of policemen named.

Considerable evidence of this character was collected recently by prohibition enforcement officers working under the direction of John Kjellander, in charge of the central division, and by special agents operating under A. C. Bernshaw, intelligence officer for the internal revenue bureau in the investigation of dry law activities.

Up to Harding

The booze crisis was put up to President Harding today.

Moral forces of the country's second largest city called upon the president to intervene in the situation caused by the "nullification of the 18th amendment."

Arthur Burridge Farwell, head of the Chicago law and order league, following the admission of Police Chief Fitzmorris that half of the Chicago police force of 5,000 are bootleggers, sent this wire to President Harding:

"Situation caused by nullification of the 18th amendment in Chicago intolerable. Prohibition laws are being openly violated. Crime is on the increase. Writing you in detail in regard to this critical situation. Moral forces of the city are requesting your excellent judgment on what should be done."

Farwell, leader of the Chicago reform element since 1871, in a letter to the president, will ask the executive to use his influence to induce congress to send an investigating committee to Chicago with power to subpoena witnesses and fix blame for nullification.

The situation came to a head when Charles Fitzmorris, youthful police chief, transferred 800 of his forces and made a statement in which he said half of the Chicago police are bootleggers or mixed up in bootlegging.

Federal investigation of the liquor traffic in Chicago has been under way for some time, according to District Attorney Clyne.

FEMALE BLUEBEARD TRIAL FOR MURDER

ACCUSED OF POISONING HER 4 HUSBANDS BESIDE BROTHER-IN-LAW AND GIRL

(By United Press.)

Twin Falls, Idaho, Sept. 26.—Trial of the sensational case of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "female bluebeard," charged with murder, opened here today.

The defendant is specifically charged with the murder of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer, but the state alleges she also poisoned three previous husbands, Robert C. Dooley of Twin Falls, Wm. McHaffie of Hardin, Montana, and H. C. Lewis of Denver and Billings, Montana.

It was from these charges that the application of the "feminine bluebeard" was bestowed upon her. In addition the state asserted she poisoned a two-year-old child and her brother-in-law, Edward Dooley.

A special venire of 70 men has been called. The state had subpoenaed 137 witnesses and is expected to summon several others.

Mrs. Southard is specifically charged with poisoning Meyer with arsenic obtained from poison fly paper one month after they were married, August 1, 1920, in order to collect $10,000 worth of life insurance which he is said to have taken out at her request. The insurance company became suspicious and refused payment.

FATTY ARBUCKLE ACTS AS HIS OWN ATTORNEY

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Sept. 26—Roscoe Arbuckle played the role of his own attorneys today in Superior Judge Laudebach's court when he was arraigned on the grand jury indictment for manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe.

Arbuckle's attorneys were not in court when his case was called.

"That's all right. I am willing to go ahead without them," Arbuckle said.

His case was formally called, but was put off to Oct. 3 on account of the preliminary hearing now in progress.

The usual crowd of women was in Police Judge Lazarus' court before the opening of today's session of the preliminary hearing which was scheduled for 10:30 a. m. Dr. Beardslee was the first witness called.

EIGHT DEATHS AND SEVENTY INJURED IN NEW BELFAST RIOTS

CATHOLICS AND PROTESTANTS FIGHT THROUGH THE STREETS OF THE CITY

BOMBS ARE THROWN, AND GUNS AND REVOLVERS ARE USED IN CONFLICT

(By United Press)

Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 26—Fresh rioting occurred here shortly before noon today and several persons were seriously wounded.

Crown forces which had temporarily stopped the sectarian warfare of the early morning were again called out and the armoured car forces poured machine gun fire into the opposing mobs.

Fierce sporadic fighting between catholics and protestants continued through the night. Volleys of revolver and rifle fire poured down York street by opposing gunmen shortly after midnight brought out armoured cars and repeated bursts of machine gun fire marked the battle area.

No sooner had the crown forces left, than the mob again came together. Eight death, four from bomb explsions earlier in the night, and seventy wounded was the toll of the casualties for the week end.

Two young girls and one boy were wounded by rifle fire early today.

Early last night a bomb was thrown into the middle of a catholic mob by an opposing mob of unionists in Seaford street. The bomb failed to explode and someone hurled it into the protestant crowd where it burst with terrific effect killing four and wounding five.

Riot Act Read in Belfast

Belfast, Sept. 26—The riot act was read in Belfast's disturbed area this afternoon for the first time in history.

Reinforcements were rushed to the Ulster capitol and military and police were redoubled in an effort to check the sporadic outbursts of fighting which continues.

MRS. GRACE LAWES WHO SHOT MISS HANAN DID NOT SUICIDE

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 26—District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn, was today informed that Mrs. Grace Lawes who shot Miss Mildred Hanan early last Friday and was then reported to have turned the revolver on herself, did not commit suicide.

Another man besides John Borland, who was with Miss Hanan at the time of the shooting, witnessed the affair.

Lewis announced that he would have the body exhumed to make certain that the shot that entered her mouth and killed her was a "contact wound."

He also said he would continue investigation of the entire case.

Credence was placed in the report that another man was present and that Mrs. Lawes was not a suicide because of the fact that in a letter written to Miss "Billie" Williams some time before her death, Mrs. Lawes asked that her relatives be notified "in case of accident to her."

Witnesses will be summoned to the district attorney's office. Among them will be Miss Williams.

HARDING AND WILSON LETTERS DIFFERENT

Washington, Sept. 26—Contrasting President Harding's letter written for use in the New Mexico senatorial contest with the Wilson letter asking for election of a Democratic Congress in 1918, the Republican Publicity Association says in a statement issued today through the President of that organization, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr.:

"Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, who seems to be the new leader of the Democrats in Congress, charges that President Harding's letter setting forth the accomplishments of the administration is similar in effect to the letter which President Wilson sent out on the eve of election in 1918 asking for the return of a Democratic Congress.

But there are several important differences. Let it be admitted that Harding's letter was written to help senatorial election in New Mexico. It was a political letter. It is just such a letter as any President might properly write in ordinary times.

"But the Wilson letter was not written in ordinary times. President Wilson had but a few weeks before issued a declaration that 'politics is adjourned'. We were in the midst of war and he had called upon all citizens to lay aside partisanship and unite in the effort to win. Republicans asquiesced in this, but on the eve of election when it was presumably too late for the Republicans to reply, Wilson issued his appeal for election of a Democratic Congress as an expression of confidence in him and in his leadership when peace negotiations should be taken up. The result was defeat for the Democratic candidates and the election of a Republican majority in the House.

"Senator Harrison knows all this, and knows that there is no similarity between the Harding letter setting forth the Republican recrd, with no appeal for votes, and the Wilson letter, appealing for votes but not setting forth the record."

DAYLIGHT SAVING BAD FOR RABBITS; ALSO FOR HUMANS

Philadelphia, Sept. 26—(United Press.)—That daylight saving is injurious to the health and nervous system of humans is the contention of Dr. William Franklin Baker, president of the Philadelphia County Homeopathic Medical Society. He gives what he considers conclusive proof of the contention.

The proof is contained in experiments which Dr. Baker carried on with two rabbits. Rabbits are affected in much the same way as humans would be under certain conditions, the doctor said, and that is why they are used etxensively in medical and scientific experiments.

The two rabbits with which Dr. Baker experimented were the same weight and from the same litter when he started, he said. They were living then under normal conditions. Now, after a few months living by daylight-saving time, one of the rabbits is ten ounces lighter and is nervous and twitchy, while the other, kept under regular conditions, is perfectly normal in every way.

The "daylight-saving" rabbit was kept awake for one hour every night and awakened an hour earlier in the morning, simulating, according to Dr. Baker, the results of daylight-saving on the human race.

"What is true of rabbits is true of human beings particularly of the young," asid Dr. Baker. "There is a definite rhythm of cycle of the day. It is a well-known fact that man reaches his lowest ebb of energy between 2 and 4 o'clock in the morning. Under daylight-saving he does not recover as thoroughly from his low ebb. Often it is noon before he reaches anything like efficiency."

"They will come to Washington in motor trucks where they will go to the White House and ask the president to grant them an audience to the unemployment conference and ask the conferees to question them."

"THE COURAGE OF MARGE O'DOONE" WILL SATISFY YOUR APPETITE

If it is a genuine, tingling thrill you hunger for—some rare, red blooded adventure cut in huge chunks from the flanks of life in the raw; spiced with romance and sprinkled throughout with suspense, or, in plain words, you are looking for the prize photoplay of the season, the one that has all the zip and zest that you have looked for so vainly, your hunger will be satisfied in "The Courage of Marge O'Donne."

"The Courage of Marge O'Doone" was written by James Oliver Curwood, one of the most popular of present day novelists. It has been made into a big special production with a star cast of well known players, headed by Niles Welch and Pauline Starke. It is a big, dramatic, fighting photoplay story. The arena of action is that most thrilling, vigorous and romantic of all the world's stages, the wild, white wastes of the frozen north.

WHAT COMES AFTER THE PURCHASE

Slogan Query Propounded by Dodge Brothers Causes the Entire Nation to Talk

MANY WRITE OF EXPERIENCES

Best Answer Turned Out by an Editorial of "Ohio Daily" of Elyria, Ohio

What comes after the purchase price?

Ever since this cryptic phrase began appearing in the national magazines, daily newspapers and on billboards from one end of the country to the other, Dodge Brothers, who propounded the question, have been receiving an incessant stream of comments. Some were from critics who questioned the prudence of flaunting a "negative suggestion" before the world. Others were from admirers who wanted to say that it was the "best attention-getting slogan they had ever seen." Hundreds came from Dodge Brothers Car owners who hastened to venture the opinion that "satisfaction" or "dependability" or "low upkeep cost" would soon be flashed across the country as the official answer.

But the great majority of these comments, many of them scrawled across the margin of an advertisement torn from a newspaper or magazine, were humorous references to perplexing situations in which motorists have found themselves after putting down the purchase price.

"Jail," wrote one, adding that "our speed cops never miss a thing."

In the opinion of those who had opportunity to see all these comments, however, the masterpiece, the true summarization of all the impressions expressed in the mass of letters and marginal notations which reached Dodge Brothers, was an editorial which appeared in the Ohio Daily, of Elyria, O. Judge its merit for yourself. It follows:

"A well known car has been carrying an advertisement for the past month or two, with the one sentence: 'What comes after the purchase price.'

"We were reminiscent when we read this. What does come after the purchase price? Well, we remembered there was the license to run the car. There was the membership in the automobile association, which the secretary insisted we should take out. There was the spot light we had to get for self-protection. There was the gasoline and the oil, and then there was the puncture, 19 miles from a hair cut, and 15 miles from a lemon, and we had left the pump in the garage, and we did not have a spare tube. And then there was the collision, and the repair man, and then there was the insurance, and the speeding, and the cop, and the judge, and the fine, until it finally reached a point where we began to wonder if we ought to figure up the cost after the purchase price, and we concluded that we had better act like the man whom we asked how much his car cost him: this was before we owned one, and he said, 'I do not know. I kept track of it until I found I could not afford it, and then I quit keeping track.' We thought that was wise for many a man to do.

"But then there is the other side. The automobile is a tremendous boon for business. It has undoubtedly kept down the cost of transportation. It makes it possible to get packages and freight there on time, and it simply annihilates distances and time, so that the person living three miles from church is but six or seven minutes away. It turns every country township into a neighborhood, and it transforms the city back into the country. It unites families for a joyful holiday, which cannot be estimated in value, and it brings many out into God's great out of doors, and gives everybody a prospect in life, which they knew nothing about hereofore.

"Much of this other expense can be avoided. To be sure, you must have a license to run the car, and while membership in the automobile association is a valuable thing, you can live without it. You do not have to get a spot light. Punctures do not happen as often as they used to; in fact we have driven five thousand miles without a puncture, and there are people who have driven for 15 or 20 years and never had a collision, and of course speeding should not be indulged in in any case.

"There are some things a family should have before they have an automobile, but we do believe that the automobiles have kept families together, have dissolved approaching divorce cases in the thin air, and have been an inexhaustible joy to the home.

"Yes, the automobile is worth what it costs to every family which can afford to have it. After the purchase price, is business, pleasure, union, mingling with others more frequently, and brotherhood. As the fellow said about marriage, it costs more than to be single, but it's worth it."

CONFERENCE MARKS SHIFT FROM BALKANS TO THE PACIFIC

By WEBB MILLER
(United Press Staff Corespondent.)

Paris, Sept. 23—The Washington conference is the beginning of a new phase in diplomatic history and marks the permanent shifting of the center of the world's diplomatic equilibrium from the Balkans and Mediterranean to the Pacific. This is the general opinion of French statesmen and publicists. For the first time French public opinion regarding the Washington conference is beginning to crystalize. Hitherto, statesmen and the public have given little attention to the conference, owing to the Franco-British differences over Upper Silesia. With that troublesome question side-tracked, the public is urning its attention toward Washington.

The closer the project of the conference is examined the more French officialdom in convinced of the world-wide significance and importance—but it is regarded primarily as a question between the United States, England and Japan.

There is a widespread impression that the question of disarmament in the conference is subsidiary and depends upon some successful solution of the Pacific problem and was injected as "bait"; that the big vital problem of the conference is the future trend of Anglo-American relations, Japanese-American relations, with the less important but equally interesting question of future relations between England and France and Japan forming the third side of the triangle.

Although she has wide financial and eocnomic interests in the whole Far East and her colonies in Indo-China, French statesmen recognize that France's role in the Pacific question is considerably less important than that of any of the other three major powers. Therefore they foresee that she will be in a position to act with mediatory influence.

An article by Jacques Bainville in La Liberte capably sums up the views of a certain section of French opinion regarding the Pacific question. He says:

"The Washington conference approaches and the object is becoming more clear. It is a matter of high politics and of diplomacy in a new and considerably widened domain The case is very simple. England and France have accords with Japan. Thanks to these which envisaged the protection of India, the British possessions and those of France were not menaced during the war. The Japanese alliance rendered uncontestable services. Naturally, Japan demanded recompense and it was at the expense of China."

Bainville points out that the United States also rendered services in the war and is now demanding her payment.

"Thus Japan has demanded her payment at the expense of China and the United States demands her own payment at the expense of Japan. The United States places us between two ingratitudes and two dangers. In wounding Japan, we compromise the security of our Asiatic possessions. In wounding the United States, we expose ourselves to the risk of being dunned too soon for the dollars we borrowed."

ARMISTICE DAY PATRIOTIC SONGS

New York, Sept. 26—In every state in the union and in thousands of communities, Armistice Day, November 11, will be ceelbrated this year with a patrotic song service. The National Council of Women of which Mrs. Philip North Moore is president, established National Song Services as annual affairs five years ago, through the initiative of Mrs. David A. Campbell, chairman of community singing. In 1919, its members decided that it should be made an observance of Armistice Day, and so November 11 became the regular date for the service for all future years.

"This means that 50,000,000 people will be singing national songs that evening throughout this country", said Mrs. Campbell. "In hools, churches, clubrooms, auditoriums, motion picture houses and even penitentiaries—yes, song services have ben held in the penitentiaries ever since we started them. We have made every effort to make the program one of universal appeal, because of this. No creed or race could object to singing anything we have placed there, I am sure. Art knows no creed or country."

The National Council of Women, which in turn, belongs to the International Council, has 31 branches in this country, and 10,000,000 members, one-tenth of the population of the country. The backing for the song service is much greater than that one-tenth, because of the support which will be given by the American Legion, the National Federation of Music Clubs, the Community Service, and various other civic and patriotic organizations.

Mrs. William John Hall, of St. Louis, hairman of the Junior Clubs of America, is arranging to have the program given in the schools of the country under the direct charge of the children themselves.

The program drawn up by Mrs. Campbell, as chairman, which will be given uniformly at the services throughout the country, is as follows:

Orchestra, "American Fantasia.....
.....Theo Bendix
(Oliver Ditson, Publishers)
Opening Song, "Come Thou Almighty King" Italian Hymn
Invocation, "Land of Mine"
..... Nesbit-MacDormid
(Forster Music Publishers, Chicago)
"Lead Kindly Light" Newman
Reading, "Peace Triumphant"....Knap
(Musical Monitor Publishing Co.)
American Folk Song, "Old Folks at Home Stephen Foster
Baritone Solo, "Recessional"
..... Kipling-DeKoven
(Published by John Church Co. New York)
Address, "Music the Universal Language"
"Battle Hymn of the Republic"..Root
"Our America" Harrison-Stetson
(G. Shirmer, Publishers)
"Nearer My God to Thee" Hymn

"Two things were kept in mind in selecting the program', Mrs. Campbell said, "The songs must be inspiring and they must be unprejudiced in appeal. "We are confident that every song there meets those demands."

The National Council has invited the members of their international organization nations to join with them in this hour of song.

The announcement of the program will go out shortly to every one of the 31 local organizations of women, which will distribute them through their members into every city and town of the country.

FRANCE'S POLICY MOULDED BY FEAR OF TWO NATIONS

By WEBB MILLER
(United Press tSaff Correspondent)

Paris, Sept. 22—The guiding principle of France's policy at the Washington conference in regard to land disarmament will be based upon her geographical position—forced to live beside an active and powerful hereditary enemy in Germany.

Another almost equally moving factor is that great political enigma of Europe—Russia. French statesmen foresee the ever-present possibility that at some future time Germany and Russia may join forces, either militarily or economically, or both, and at one stroke upset all plans. With the present Bolshevik regime in power, France knows that she has in Russia a potential enemy. Whether the enmity will continue when and if the Bolsheviks are overthrown, is an unanswerable question. In every calculation affecting her national security, French statesmen must keep the above possibilities in sight.

These fundamental principles will underlie every move of the French representatives at the Washington conference. While admitting the possibilities of world-wide benefit that would result from any settlement of the Pacific questions or any workable accord on disarmament, thus far the majority of the French press and a section of official circles are viewing the Washington conference with a noticeable lack of enthusiasm. Most of the comment in the press has been a critical nature.

The outstanding fact seems to be that France cannot yet see how she stands to gain much from the conference and does clearly see how she might lose heavily, especially in the matter of land disarmament.

However, in the interests of the general world welfare and in the hope that some formula will be worked out that might permit a lifting of some of the burden of armaments without affecting national security, France is willing to participate in good faith.

But the French delegation will go to the conference with one unalterable reservation on land disarmament and one unanimous mandate from the nation. That is, that no arrangement will be entered into that would in any way compromise the national security of France.

WITH ITS RANKS DEPLETED, THE G. A. R. MEETS TODAY

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Sept. 26—Civil war veterans, clad in the blue of their fighting days, shook hands in reunion once more here today as they gathered for the fifty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which opened Sunday.

Gray hairs and furrowed cheeks were the only evidence of age, as the vets became boys once more and paraded to the fife and drum or sat around the city on specially provided benches, swapping yarns in reminiscence.

Antietam, Gettysburg and Chickemauga were re-fought, while the former sailors re-lived the clash between the Monitor and the Merrimac.

There were several thousand fewer veterans expected at the encampment this year than in previous years. Thousands have died or become too feeble since a year ago and many stayed at home because they were in Indianapolis last year and didn't wish to come to the same city two years in succession.

Tomorrow will be devoted chiefly to reunions. On Monday credentials will be presented and Governor McCray will receive the visitors in the state house Monday night. The first business session will be held Tuesday.

With shoulders thrown back in defiance of age, the veterans will march to martial airs in their annual encampment parade Wednesday. This and the campfire on that night will mark the climax of the encampment.

MEN NEARING THE IDEAL, SAYS A WOMAN LEADER

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 24.—At last woman has made a man out of man.

The reformation, in progress since the beginning of time, now is accomplished, and man—the majority, of course—has reached the height of perfection.

"And woman did it," Mrs. Mary Coleman, attorney and club leader, told the United Press today.

"Twenty years ago man spent his nights at the club; 200 years ago he powdered his nose in public and wore silk panties; 2000 years ago he cut a woman's head off if he didn't like the part in her hair.

"But today—he comes home, helps wipe the dinner dishes, and then goes out and pushes the baby carriage around the block.

"He shaves every day and keeps himself neat and trim. Physically and mentally he is the peer of any past generations.

"The change was brought about by woman. She keeps him at home nights now because she is able to discuss business and politics and he doesn't have to go to the club. She makes him do some of the shopping and be interested in care of the home.

"Why men have nerve enough now to argue with the butcher because there is too much bone in the steak!

"He isn't growing effeminate—he's just found out how to be a man."

One Big Union Convention

Winnipeg, Sept. 26—Organization extension problems were discussed by delegates to the annual convention of the One Big Union here today. R. B. Russell, who served a term in prison for participation in the Winnipeg general strike, was to preside at the sessions. Each delegates to the convention is supposed to represent 1,000 members.

WITH ITS RANKS DEPLETED, THE G. A. R. MEETS TODAY

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Sept. 26—Civil war veterans, clad in the blue of their fighting days, shook hands in reunion once more here today as they gathered for the fifty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which opened Sunday.

Gray hairs and furrowed cheeks were the only evidence of age, as the vets became boys once more and paraded to the fife and drum or sat around the city on specially provided benches, swapping yarns in reminiscence.

Antietam, Gettysburg and Chickemauga were re-fought, while the former sailors re-lived the clash between the Monitor and the Merrimac.

There were several thousand fewer veterans expected at the encampment this year than in previous years. Thousands have died or become too feeble since a year ago and many stayed at home because they were in Indianapolis last year and didn't wish to come to the same city two years in succession.

Tomorrow will be devoted chiefly to reunions. On Monday credentials will be presented and Governor McCray will receive the visitors in the state house Monday night. The first business session will be held Tuesday.

With shoulders thrown back in defiance of age, the veterans will march to martial airs in their annual encampment parade Wednesday. This and the campfire on that night will mark the climax of the encampment.

MEN NEARING THE IDEAL, SAYS A WOMAN LEADER

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 24.—At last woman has made a man out of man.

The reformation, in progress since the beginning of time, now is accomplished, and man—the majority, of course—has reached the height of perfection.

"And woman did it," Mrs. Mary Coleman, attorney and club leader, told the United Press today.

"Twenty years ago man spent his nights at the club; 200 years ago he powdered his nose in public and wore silk panties; 2000 years ago he cut a woman's head off if he didn't like the part in her hair.

"But today—he comes home, helps wipe the dinner dishes, and then goes out and pushes the baby carriage around the block.

"He shaves every day and keeps himself neat and trim. Physically and mentally he is the peer of any past generations.

"The change was brought about by woman. She keeps him at home nights now because she is able to discuss business and politics and he doesn't have to go to the club. She makes him do some of the shopping and be interested in care of the home.

"Why men have nerve enough now to argue with the butcher because there is too much bone in the steak!

"He isn't growing effeminate—he's just found out how to be a man."

One Big Union Convention

Winnipeg, Sept. 26—Organization extension problems were discussed by delegates to the annual convention of the One Big Union here today. R. B. Russell, who served a term in prison for participation in the Winnipeg general strike, was to preside at the sessions. Each delegates to the convention is supposed to represent 1,000 members.

REORGANIZING THE DEPARTMENTS.

In the Dispatch of Friday evening last a Washington correspondent of the United Press, briefly outlined the plans of President Harding to bring more economy and efficiency into government departments by reorganizing them. The executive departments of the government have the first and last voice in determining what the expenditures shall be. They make the recommendations and requests to Congress, before the appropriations are made, and they spend the money authorized by the appropriations. Because Congress appropriates money is no reason why it should be spent. We have never heard of a public official being impeached for turning back part of an appropriation. There are many, however, who should have been impeached for incurring deficits.

During the Wilson administration there was always a deficiency at the end of the year in every department, which Congress was obliged to make good by additional appropriations. Under the Republican administration the departments are not spending the full amounts appropriated, but are returning to the treasury unexpended balances instead of asking for more money. The expenses of the government are being reduced in every direction in order to reduce the taxes.

LIMITATION OF ARMAMENT

The talk of disarmament, and a navyless world, to be secured by the conference at Washington in November, is really harmful, and is making more difficult the task of the conference, which is to discuss not the possibility of a navyless world, but the possibility of a reasonable limitation of naval armament. Any expectation at this time that the leading sea powers—America, Britain and Japan—will sink their navies, is bound to be disappointed, and it is poor statesmanship, indeed, to raise extravagant expectations that can only result in disappointment. An example of the reaction and failure that attends statesmanship of this kind is shown in the career of Woodrow Wilson.

Government officials at Washington are showing their anxiety to avoid the creation of an atmosphere of feverish expectation over the success or failure of the forthcoming conference, and in the hope of offsetting any impression that the success of the conference is absolutely essential to the future well-being of the United States, they are emphasizing a statement that "the development of anything like a super-interest would be a mistake, as our government will continue to function just as usual, no matter what the outcome of the conference."

THE COAL SITUATION

Fear is now expressed that the first spell of cold weather may cause a car shortage in the Northwest. Coal is still being piled on the docks at the Head of the Lakes, but few consumers are filling their bins because of the high prices.

A cold snap, it is thought, would cause consumers to order coal and in turn cause buying by dealers, so that they may be unable to care for the demands, as the coal shipments from Duluth to date are reported as exceptionally light.

On the other hand we note that the car supply in the Northwest is reported as considerably larger than a year ago, with more than 90 per cent of cars owned by the railroads on their own lines as compared with from 65 to 75 per cent a year ago. The coal companies claim that sufficient supplies of coal to take care of the fuel needs of the Northwest through the winter and now available on the docks, and dock officials say the railroads have extra cars available to handle shipments from the docks when the rush comes.

Louis W. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern Railway board of directors, who has just returned from the Pacific coast and a trip through the Northwest, declares that conditions are everywhere improving, business is definitely on the upgrade and there is every reason for optimism.

Highway Commissioner Babcock estimates that more than 10,000 men and hundreds of teams can earn upwards of $7,500,000 in wages on Minnesota highways this winter alone under the "more work—better roads" plan. Labor items exceed 65 per cent of the $13,500,000 now being used.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press points out that "Motion picture producers have one field of reform in which they can really accomplish something—they can discontinue the production of suggestive films." In which sentiment we heartily agree.

A. H. Woods is noted for doing original things. He has always dared to be different, as well as excellent. "Ladies Night" is his most daring and his most original offering to the play-going public. It is a unique entertainment. It captivates the eye, the ear and the fancy. It looks deliciously good and it sounds excruciating funny. This play is by Avery Hopwood and Charlton Andrews and has been one of the biggest New York successes.. It has an unusual record of selling to capacity for more than a year. Mr. Woods will present "Ladies Night" at the New Park theatre on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Margaret Bird in A. H. Woods' farce hit of the year "Ladies Night" in a Turkish Bath at the New Park theatre on Saturday Night. October 1st.

It is a hilarious tale of a wistful young man who was afraid of the manifold charms of the female form. He found himself in a Turkish Bath, on "Ladies Night." It was a good night for the bath, a bad night for him and a great night for the audience. "Ladies Night" is screamingly funny. Mr. Woods has assembled an exceptionally fine cast which includes Ralph Bunker, Muriel Hudson, Josephine Saxe, Ebba Andrus, Dave Jones, Stanley DeWolfe, Ellen Best, Antoinette Crawford, Mary Mixn, Marjorie Chester, Alma Wall, Bobbie Lee, Helen Courtney, Josephine Deffry, Doll Farlardeau, Lillian Smalley, and Wm. Battle Between Two Grizzly Bears in Curwood Picture at Lyceum

A vicious battle between two grizzly bears is one of the chief features in "The Courage of Marge O'Doone," a special production based on the powerful novel by James Oliver Curwood, which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Tuesday. Special precautions were taken to make the screen play true to the type of the Canadian Northwest.

Niles Welch was selected to interpret the role of David Raine in "The Courage of Marge O'Doone," because of his unusual ability in handling parts of this kind. He has a wiry physique and pleasing personality that stands him in good stead in roles that carry him into the great open spaces.

Extra Entertaining Picture in "Passers By" Today at the New Park

Herbert Rawlinson in "Passers By," a J. Suart Blackton production, released through Pathe, will be the feature at this theatre today and tomorrow.

It is a quaint, heart-gripping story from the pen of C. Haddon Chambers and enjoyed a long run in New York as a most successful play.

Mr. Chambers is a well known playwright, having written "The Tyranny of Tears," "The Saving Grace" and "Captain Swift."

Herbert Rawlinson is convincing in the principal role and is supported by an excellent cast, among whom are Lelia Valentine, Ellen Cassity, Pauline Coffyn, and Tom Lewis.

He loved her and wanted to marry her although she occupied a much lower station in life than he did.

His sister, however, wanted him to marry a young lady of high station and in order to bring the marriage about, forced Margaret, our heroine, from the house, where she was employed as a governess.

The lovers did not meet again for six years—and then it was by chance when in a whimsical moment our hero opened his home to strays who passed by.

It brings on a series of adventures entirely unlooked for, taken as a whole this is one of the really big pictures and one sure to please everyone.

An Open Letter To Farmers

The diversion of the Farmer's capital into other channels has been an injury to the agricultural implement business. It is a part of the extravagance in which Americans of all classes have indulged since the war began and up to a recent time. A major item is the automobile.

It is estimated that the cost per year for the maintenance and operation of automobiles owned by the farmer class is $600,000,000. The amount spent per year for farm machinery and tools is not in excess of $500,000,000.

Nor in this comparison is any allowance made for depreciation of the automobiles, which one might guess should be written from cost down to zero in a period of five years.

This is a comparison of luxuries and necessaries which does not look well. That the country can stand such things is evidence of its strength and promise of future prosperity.

There is in this view of the case no hint of objection to the ownership and use of automobiles by farmers. They are entitled to all that they can get out of the pleasure car consistent with a reasonable consideration of economy.

But the money must first come from somewhere. Agriculture is the foundation of all prosperity—if the money is not forthcoming from soil crops there will be no money for luxuries.

Increased prosperity means that the farmer must make more and better crops, increase the production—at the same time reducing the production cost. This means that power must be used—Tractors and Trucks to bring about the greater production and to lower the costs.

DUCK HUNTING FATALITY SUNDAY

Robert Nelson, Railway Shop Employe, Meets Death at South Long Lake Sunday Afternoon

STEPPED INTO A DEEP HOLE

Shot a Duck and Swam Out to Get Same—Scores of Boats Searching Lake for Body

The first hunting fatality recorded in Crow Wing county this season and the first to take place at South Long Lake occurred Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Robert Nelson, a young railway shop employe, drowned at a point two miles south of Lone Pine Camp near Grass Island.

As told by Wm. McCall, who owns the resort, McCall was trolling near Grass Island. Nelson and a young man named Huseby were on shore. McCall scared up some ducks and they flew toward Nelson. The latter took a shot at the birds.

McCall continued rowing and said he heard Nelson shoot and saw him wading for the duck. He was waist deep when McCall last saw him. Mccall said Nelson was a poor swimmer and that he could only keep afloat for some 30 feet.

The rest of the tragedy was not seen by McCall, but he said it was reported Nelson got the duck beyond the line of rushes and then swam for shore. His strength gave out and Nelson yelled for help. He went down and never came up.

On shore was his wife frantically calling for help. Boats were secured and search continued for the body until dark and was resumed early Monday morning. Seven boats from McCall's are aiding in the search. It will be difficult to recover the body as Nelson had disrobed before jumping into the lake.

Grappling hooks were secured in Brainerd Monday, also nets and other devices to recover the body. Nelson was married a year ago and made his home at 402 Second Avenue Northeast. He was employed at the lumber yard in the Northern Pacific railway shops.

BOWLING, INVIGORATING SPORT

Six Alleys Well Patronized, Located on Second Floor of Bane Block, South 7th St.

R. E. Stephenson has opened his bowling alleys on the second floor of the Bane block on South Seventh street and patronage was good from the very start of the season. Bowling has always been recognized as a most invigorating sport. It takes a steady hand and head and well controlled muscular effort to make all pins topple over at one roll and further fine work to get the "spares".

There are six alleys and all have been put in fine shape. As the season gets under way the shops and business section will be represented by bowling leagues anxious to roll up percentages.

Last year the season was a most auspicious one and many ladies also learned to bowl.

LEASES CARRIED 17 YEARS SURRENDERED

On February 26, 1904, the state of Minnesota issued two mineral leases on two 120-acre tracts in Section 36, township 46, range 29, near Klondike station and one mile west of the Adams mine. The leases have been carried since by the Orelands Mining Co., organized by Cuyler Adams, W. D. Edson and W. C. White, but now controlled by the Northwestern Improvement Co. It has cost $2500 per year to keep these leases alive; the royalty was 25 per ton. The Orelands company has surrendered these two leases, after having carried same for 17 years. The ores were low in quality and quantity.

GREAT LAKES-ST. LAWRENCE

Believed Transportation Conditions Greatly Relieved by Proposed Waterway

CONGRESS TO BE APPEALED TO

Waterways Commission Has Called a Meeting of All Interested at St. Paul on Oct. 7

In a communication to the Brainerd Dispatch and to many Brainerd citizens Governor J. A. O. Preus states that "transportation conditions in the last few years have been a serious ahndicap to farmers and all other producers in the Northwest. Congestion and high freight rates have worked a hardship on both producer and consumer.

"These conditions will be greatly relieved by the proposed Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterway, which will permit ships to carry to products of Minnesota-s farms and factories from our inland ports across the ocean without breaking bulk.

"The government engineers' report of the International Joint commission will be made soon, and is expected to be favorable.

"It is proposed to bring suitable legislation before Congress in December, but it is necessary to do everything possible to show that public opinion strongly favors the speedy completion of the project.

"The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Commission of Minnesota therefore requests that representatives of farmers and others interested in production and transportation meet in the House Chamber, State Capitol, St. Paul, Friday, October th, to consider the report of the commission and to determine upon a program of action.

The date selected is the day before the opening of the National Dairy show, which will make it possible for those attending to be at both gatherings on the same trip.

GAME LAWS FOR ASKING

In a letter to the Dispatch, Congressman Harold Knutson asks that we make known to our readers that a bulletin containing the laws may be had for the asking. His letter is as follows:

Dear Sir: The Department of Agriculture has just issued a very interesting bulletin containing the game laws for 1921 and a summary of the provisions of the Federal, State and Canadian statutes pertaining to the game laws, and a limited quota has been assigned to me. The title of this bulletin is "Game Laws for 1921, Bulletin 1235."

I am sure that every sportsman in your vicinity would like to secure a copy and if you will be so kind as to make a brief mention of it in your next issue I will appreciate it. Copies may be obtained by writing me.

Very sincerely yours,
HAROLD KNUTSON.

Effort to be Centered on Extending Season to Include the Fall Months. September, October

Resort keepers from thirty of the lake hotels in the Brainerd district were present at the organization meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce Monday morning. O. J. Bouma, secretary of the Chamber, read the call for the meeting. Local hotel men had also been invited.

Was Never More Interesting Than Now

We never appreciated our broad windows and ample daylight so much as we do now that all the new goods are here, to be made doubly radiant by the natural sunlight that so clearly shows them just as they really are.

Windows are for your protection, as well as your comfort. Indifferent goods might be sold in the gloom of dark corners, or in a badly lighted store; but goods must be right—excellent in quality, pleasing in coloring, satisfying in patterns and style, to win your favor in such broad daylight as this store presents everywhere you go in it.

Then it is so comfortable—so refreshingly ventilated—folks don't tire as they do where less efficient ventilating denies the pure ozone that is always a feature of our building. Come here to see things clearly and to breathe refreshing air all the time you are shopping.

CHILE BORROWS OUR DEPARTMENT STORES

(By United Press.)

Santiago. (By Mail.)—The department store idea has hit the bull's-eye in Chili. Comparatively a recent institution on anything like a large scale in this country, it has demonstrated its success, and though times are "bad" here, the perennial bargain-hunter is always evident.

A few days ago a large force of reserve policemen were necessitated to keep order in the entire block occupied by the city's largest store on the occasion of the opening of a sale.

Santiago now has two large, well-equipped department stores, handling everything from garden tools to groceries. A few weeks ago one of them opened a tea room, and it attained instant popularity, particularly among the youth of the city.

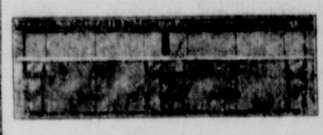

Most of the stocks sold by the department stores are imported from England, France and the United States. Among the American articles sold are shoes, food-products, hats and some textile products. American goods are popular, but their prices are not, and buyers are not taking chances of repeating heavy losses which have been incurred on account of the swift rise in value of the U. S. dollar.

DUCK HUNTING FATALITY SUNDAY

Robert Nelson, Railway Shop Employe, Meets Death at South Long Lake Sunday Afternoon

STEPPED INTO A DEEP HOLE

Shot a Duck and Swam Out to Get Same—Scores of Boats Searching Lake for Body

The first hunting fatality recorded in Crow Wing county this season and the first to take place at South Long Lake occurred Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Robert Nelson, a young railway shop employe, drowned at a point two miles south of Lone Pine Camp near Grass Island.

As told by Wm. McCall, who owns the resort, McCall was trolling near Grass Island. Nelson and a young man named Huseby were on shore. McCall scared up some ducks and they flew toward Nelson. The latter took a shot at the birds.

McCall continued rowing and said he heard Nelson shoot and saw him wading for the duck. He was waist deep when McCall last saw him. Mccall said Nelson was a poor swimmer and that he could only keep afloat for some 30 feet.

The rest of the tragedy was not seen by McCall, but he said it was reported Nelson got the duck beyond the line of rushes and then swam for shore. His strength gave out and Nelson yelled for help. He went down and never came up.

On shore was his wife frantically calling for help. Boats were secured and search continued for the body until dark and was resumed early Monday morning. Seven boats from McCall's are aiding in the search. It will be difficult to recover the body as Nelson had disrobed before jumping into the lake.

Grappling hooks were secured in Brainerd Monday, also nets and other devices to recover the body. Nelson was married a year ago and made his home at 402 Second Avenue Northeast. He was employed at the lumber yard in the Northern Pacific railway shops.

R. E. Stephenson has opened his bowling alleys on the second floor of the Bane block on South Seventh street and patronage was good from the very start of the season. Bowling has always been recognized as a most invigorating sport. It takes a steady hand and head and well controlled muscular effort to make all pins topple over at one roll and further fine work to get the "spares".

There are six alleys and all have been put in fine shape. As the season gets under way the shops and business section will be represented by bowling leagues anxious to roll up percentages.

Last year the season was a most auspicious one and many ladies also learned to bowl.

LEASES CARRIED 17 YEARS SURRENDERED

On February 26, 1904, the state of Minnesota issued two mineral leases on two 120-acre tracts in Section 36, township 46, range 29, near Klondike station and one mile west of the Adams mine. The leases have been carried since by the Orelands Mining Co., organized by Cuyler Adams, W. D. Edson and W. C. White, but now controlled by the Northwestern Improvement Co. It has cost $2500 per year to keep these leases alive; the royalty was 25 per ton. The Orelands company has surrendered these two leases, after having carried same for 17 years. The ores were low in quality and quantity.

GREAT LAKES-ST. LAWRENCE

Believed Transportation Conditions Greatly Relieved by Proposed Waterway

CONGRESS TO BE APPEALED TO

Waterways Commission Has Called a Meeting of All Interested at St. Paul on Oct. 7

In a communication to the Brainerd Dispatch and to many Brainerd citizens Governor J. A. O. Preus states that "transportation conditions in the last few years have been a serious ahndicap to farmers and all other producers in the Northwest. Congestion and high freight rates have worked a hardship on both producer and consumer.

"These conditions will be greatly relieved by the proposed Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterway, which will permit ships to carry to products of Minnesota-s farms and factories from our inland ports across the ocean without breaking bulk.

"The government engineers' report of the International Joint commission will be made soon, and is expected to be favorable.

"It is proposed to bring suitable legislation before Congress in December, but it is necessary to do everything possible to show that public opinion strongly favors the speedy completion of the project.

"The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Commission of Minnesota therefore requests that representatives of farmers and others interested in production and transportation meet in the House Chamber, State Capitol, St. Paul, Friday, October th, to consider the report of the commission and to determine upon a program of action.

The date selected is the day before the opening of the National Dairy show, which will make it possible for those attending to be at both gatherings on the same trip.

SCIENCE ABLE TO CURB PLAGUE FROM RUSSIA

By WILFRID FLEISHER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris. (By Mail.)—The spread of epidemic in Russia in the wake of the great famine does not threaten Western Europe, in the opinion of Dr. Roux, head of the Pasteur Institute. Medical science had made such progress that epidemics can be checked and great cataclysms such as visited Europe in the Middle Ages can be averted.

"I believe," said Dr. Roux, "that we know enough about such epidemics as typhus, cholera and plague to protect our frontiers. Germany and Poland are the countries which face the greatest task, as they are in first line, and in their hands mainly lies the responsibility for the security of Western Europe.

"The best course open to the nations of Western Europe is to associate themselves with the international relief work already on foot, and particularly to keep close watch along the Russian Polish frontier.

"Refugees who are infected or may be bearers of germs should be thoroughly cleansed, and suspected cases should be kept under surveillance for a certain period. Typhus is only carried by lice, and plague by fleas, and once these removed, the victim is no longer a source of danger to his neighbor.

"As for cholera, vaccination is an effective preventative. It rendered great services during the war to the Greek, Rumanian, and French armies in the Near East. Typhus vaccination cannot be very widely used, as no method has yet been found of breeding the typhus microbe and the serum must be taken from infected persons, which, of course, limits the amount of serum available."

VAST CALIFORNIA DRUG RING FOUND BY STATE AGENTS

Los Angeles, Sept. 24—Twenty thousand drug addicts have been discovered in southern California in an official investigation by the California state board of pharmacy.

That an expose is imminent in Los Angeles and especially in the Hollywood film colony which will be astounding was admitted here tonight by Clement E. Peoples, chief investigator of the board who verified a report that he and his agents have been secretly investigating listing southern California's drug users for months.

"Cleanup" Program Kept Secret

The investigation was started before the scandal involving Roscoe Arbuckle turned national attention to the alleged immoralities in Hollywood, motion picture center of the country.

"We have 20,000 addicts listed in southern California," Peoples said.

Peoples was reticent about outlining the state's cleanup program.

"We'll get farther if we keep our mouths shut about what we intend to do", he remarked. "We'd be blocked at every turn by a wealthy and unbelievably powerful combination if our program was made public."

It is known however, that one raid on an extensive drug section was recently conducted with results that astonished even the raiders. It was apparent from this raid, officials intimated, that the supply sources of drugs and "dope" were organized and that the habit was largely indulged by its victims at institutions established and maintained for that purpose rather than in the privacy of individual homes.

Regina, Sask., Sept. 27—A campaign for a law to prohibit all killing of prairie chickens in Saskatchewan for five years has been launched by the farmers of the province. They declare the birds are worth their weight in gold as destroyers of grasshoppers and other insect pests. The present law that protects prairie chickens provides an open season of two weeks. During this brief period, guns of sportsmen are cracking all over the prairies every day and the destruction is enormous.

MAY BE PROUD OF RECORD

Massachusetts Town Has Shown What Can Be Done When Management Is Intelligent.

In contrast with the situation at Block Island, where the town came near bankruptcy, is that of Middleton, Mass.

The entire permanent debt of Middleton at the present time is $7,000, of which $1,000 is due in notes which will soon be paid, leaving a balance of $5,400. Here is what the town has to show for the amount and may be timely:

First, and one of the most important, are excellent schools. There is also a fine, free public library, well equipped with the best of books. There is public water with good hydrant service and with which a large portion of the townspeople can be supplied. Electric lights are in all the central streets and a large number of homes are equipped with them. There are good railroad accommodations. Two new bridges have been built over the Ipswich river. The improvements, with the exception of the schools, have all been made during the last 20 years, and are all paid for with the exception of $5,400.

In addition to the above the state and county have expended on the streets in town, under the small town act, for macadam roads, $150,000.—Boston Globe.

Keeping in Step With The Times

IN 1910 the consumption of gasoline in the United States approximated seven hundred and fifty million gallons. In 1920 the consumption of gasoline was well over four billion gallons.

This tremendous increase in demand came with a spectacular suddenness which strained the resources of the petroleum industry.

To meet it the Burton process was developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

While no claim is made that the Burton process is wholly responsible for the increased efficiency of refining practices, the fact remains that without it the tremendous increase of gasoline from crude oil would have been impossible.

In 1910 the average recovery of gasoline from the crudes of the United States was approximately 11 percent; in 1920 this average had been increased to upwards of 30 percent.

While this Company was producing gasoline in sufficient quantities to meet the ever-increasing demand upon its facilities, it also was confronted with the necessity of finding a market for the vast number of products made from that part of the petroleum which could not be converted into gasoline.

New uses for these by-products had to be found or created if gasoline were to be relieved of more than its just share of the cost of refining, thereby keeping the price of this fuel within the reach of all.

It required all the knowledge, experience, skill, resourcefulness, ingenuity and technical ability which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) could bring into play.

The Company has a just pride in its success in finding added fields of usefulness for old by-products, as well as for having developed new by-products of use and value.

Thus does the faithfulness of a big institution, fortified by science, ability and a will to be truly useful, function to the advantage of all.

Probe State Taxes.

St. Paul, Sept. 26—Investigation of taxes in Minnesota by a legislative committee was begun today.

The interim committee named during the last legislature to probe state taxes was to open its investigation today on the iron range. Particular study will be made of taxes on iron mining properties and products.

W. I. Nolan, speaker of the house, is chairman of the committee. Charles Murphy, Aurora; Charles Warner, Aitkin; Theodore Christianson, Dawson, and R. W. Hitchcock, Hibbing, are members.

The committee is expected to make recommendations to the next legislature with regard to taxes in the state.

SCIENCE ABLE TO CURB PLAGUE FROM RUSSIA

By WILFRID FLEISHER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris. (By Mail.)—The spread of epidemic in Russia in the wake of the great famine does not threaten Western Europe, in the opinion of Dr. Roux, head of the Pasteur Institute. Medical science had made such progress that epidemics can be checked and great cataclysms such as visited Europe in the Middle Ages can be averted.

"I believe," said Dr. Roux, "that we know enough about such epidemics as typhus, cholera and plague to protect our frontiers. Germany and Poland are the countries which face the greatest task, as they are in first line, and in their hands mainly lies the responsibility for the security of Western Europe.

"The best course open to the nations of Western Europe is to associate themselves with the international relief work already on foot, and particularly to keep close watch along the Russian Polish frontier.

"Refugees who are infected or may be bearers of germs should be thoroughly cleansed, and suspected cases should be kept under surveillance for a certain period. Typhus is only carried by lice, and plague by fleas, and once these removed, the victim is no longer a source of danger to his neighbor.

"As for cholera, vaccination is an effective preventative. It rendered great services during the war to the Greek, Rumanian, and French armies in the Near East. Typhus vaccination cannot be very widely used, as no method has yet been found of breeding the typhus microbe and the serum must be taken from infected persons, which, of course, limits the amount of serum available."

Borneo Natives Fond of Beads.

The natives of Borneo are the great bead lovers of the world. In many instances there are collections of beads which have been in one family for centuries, and which cannot be bought, they are so cherished by the owners. An examination of these collections often reveals some precious gems, which have been cut by the native artisans in bead shape.

VAST CALIFORNIA DRUG RING FOUND BY STATE AGENTS

Los Angeles, Sept. 24—Twenty thousand drug addicts have been discovered in southern California in an official investigation by the California state board of pharmacy.

That an expose is imminent in Los Angeles and especially in the Hollywood film colony which will be astounding was admitted here tonight by Clement E. Peoples, chief investigator of the board who verified a report that he and his agents have been secretly investigating listing southern California's drug users for months.

"Cleanup" Program Kept Secret

The investigation was started before the scandal involving Roscoe Arbuckle turned national attention to the alleged immoralities in Hollywood, motion picture center of the country.

"We have 20,000 addicts listed in southern California," Peoples said.

Peoples was reticent about outlining the state's cleanup program.

"We'll get farther if we keep our mouths shut about what we intend to do", he remarked. "We'd be blocked at every turn by a wealthy and unbelievably powerful combination if our program was made public."

It is known however, that one raid on an extensive drug section was recently conducted with results that astonished even the raiders. It was apparent from this raid, officials intimated, that the supply sources of drugs and "dope" were organized and that the habit was largely indulged by its victims at institutions established and maintained for that purpose rather than in the privacy of individual homes.

Saving the Chickens

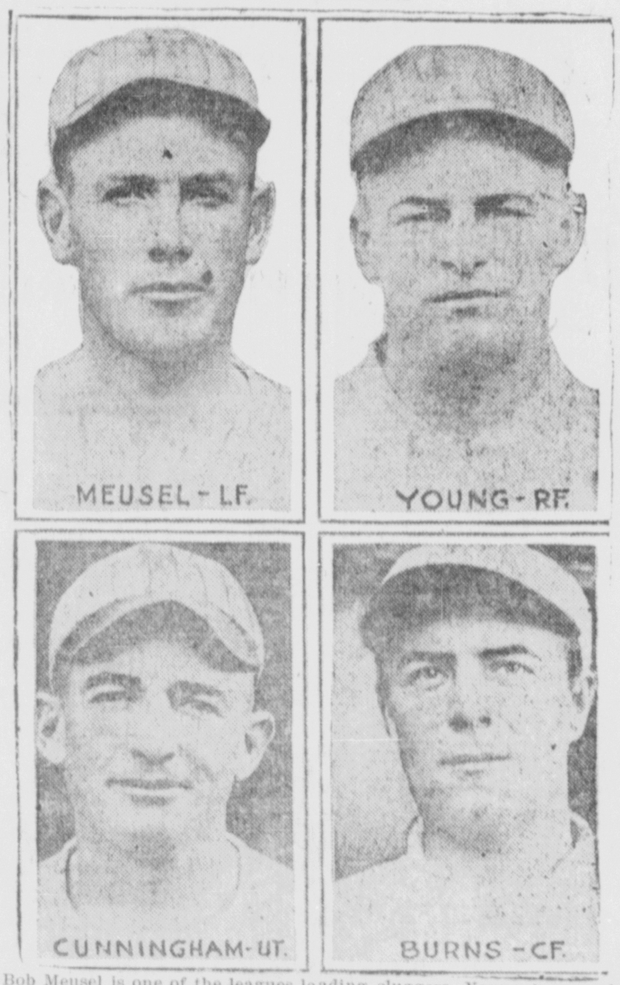

(United Press)

Regina, Sask., Sept. 27—A campaign for a law to prohibit all killing of prairie chickens in Saskatchewan for five years has been launched by the farmers of the province. They declare the birds are worth their weight in gold as destroyers of grasshoppers and other insect pests. The present law that protects prairie chickens provides an open season of two weeks. During this brief period, guns of sportsmen are cracking all over the prairies every day and the destruction is enormous.

MAY BE PROUD OF RECORD

Massachusetts Town Has Shown What Can Be Done When Management Is Intelligent.

In contrast with the situation at Block Island, where the town came near bankruptcy, is that of Middleton, Mass.

The entire permanent debt of Middleton at the present time is $7,000, of which $1,000 is due in notes which will soon be paid, leaving a balance of $5,400. Here is what the town has to show for the amount and may be timely:

First, and one of the most important, are excellent schools. There is also a fine, free public library, well equipped with the best of books. There is public water with good hydrant service and with which a large portion of the townspeople can be supplied. Electric lights are in all the central streets and a large number of homes are equipped with them. There are good railroad accommodations. Two new bridges have been built over the Ipswich river. The improvements, with the exception of the schools, have all been made during the last 20 years, and are all paid for with the exception of $5,400.

In addition to the above the state and county have expended on the streets in town, under the small town act, for macadam roads, $150,000.—Boston Globe.
